REPORT OF ELECTORAL BOUNDARIES COMMISSION 1991

The Electoral Boundaries Commission was established under The Electoral Boundaries Commission Act, 1991 consisting of:

Dr. John H. Archer, O.C., S.O.M. (Chairman);
the Honourable Mr. Justice E. C. Malone; and the Honourable Mr. Justice R. L. Barclay.

Section 9 of the Act directed the Commission to prepare a report containing the Commission's recommendations respecting constituency boundaries. In proposing these boundaries, the Commission is directed:

- to divide northern Saskatchewan into 2 constituencies;
- to divide the southern part of the province into 64 constituencies;
- to provide boundary descriptions for each proposed constituency; and
- to propose a name for each proposed constituency.

In carrying out its mandate under Section 9 of the Act, the Commission sought, subject to meeting all other requirements of the Act, to provide well defined and easily recognizable boundaries e.g. rivers, roads, city limits, etc., wherever possible, and to propose constituency names of a recognized geographic or historic nature.

Section 10 of the Act required the Commission to establish a population quotient for each constituency based on the total voter population (as opposed to total population) as of the 1986 provincial general election, divided by 66. The quotient established is therefore 669,716 divided by 66 which equals 10,147 voters per constituency.

Having established a voter quotient, the Commission is directed by Section 11 of the Act to proceed as follows:

> 11(1) In determining the area to be included in a proposed constituency south of the dividing line and in fixing the boundaries of that constituency, the commission shall ensure that the voter population of each proposed constituency be, as nearly as possible, equal to the constituency population quotient.
> (2) Notwithstanding subsection (1), the commission may depart from the requirements of that subsection where, in the opinion of the commission, it is necessary to do so because of:

(a) special geographic considerations, including:

(i) sparsity, density or relative rates of growth of population in various regions south of the dividing line;
(ii) accessibility to the regions mentioned in subclause (i); or
(iii) the size and shape of the regions described in subclause (i);

(b) a special community of interests or diversity of interests of persons residing in regions south of the dividing line; or

(c) physical features of regions south of the dividing line.

(3) In determining the area to be included in a proposed constituency north of the dividing line and in fixing the boundaries of that constituency, the commission shall ensure that the voter population of each proposed constituency be, as nearly as possible, equal.

(4) Notwithstanding subsection (3), the commission may depart from the requirements of that subsection where, in the opinion of the commission, it is necessary to do so because of:

(a) special geographic considerations, including:

(i) sparsity, density or relative rates of growth of population in various regions north of the dividing line;
(ii) accessibility to the regions mentioned in subclause (i); or
(iii) the size and shape of the regions described in subclause (i);

(b) a special community of interests or diversity of interests of persons residing in regions north of the dividing line; or

(c) physical features of regions north of the dividing line.

(5) In determining the area to be included in a proposed constituency and in fixing the boundaries of a proposed constituency, the commission may refer to the official list of electors that was:

(a) prepared for Saskatchewan pursuant to the Canada Elections Act, as amended from time to time; and

(b) used in the preceding general election held pursuant to the Canada Elections Act, as amended from time to time.

(6) In this section, "official list of electors" means the official list of electors within the meaning of the Canada Elections Act, as amended from time to time.

In examining the directive under Section 11 subsection (5), allowing the Commission to refer to the federal voter enumeration of 1988, the Commission found that the federal enumeration recorded 675,160 voters in the province of Saskatchewan, 5,444 more than the provincial enumeration of 1986. This represented a slight decline of 0.57% in rural areas, and a slight increase of 1.37% in urban areas. However, it was noted that the federal enumeration in urban areas showed a slight decline of population in some city core areas and a consequent increase in suburban areas. In order to take this perceived trend in urban population into consideration, the Commission decided to use the federal enumeration figures in the four main cities of the province to better reflect the current demographic situation.

The Commission adhered to the principle of each constituency having as close a number of voters to the voter quotient as possible, while attempting to rely on the criteria laid down in subsection (2) of Section 11.

The procedure used by the Commission to determine the proposed constituencies was to divide the province into geographic areas based in the main on the pattern of the province's rivers, thus:

- the area of the province south of the South Saskatchewan and Qu'Appelle Rivers;
- the area on the west side of the province between the South and North Saskatchewan Rivers;
- the area on the east side of the province between the Qu'Appelle, South Saskatchewan and North Saskatchewan Rivers;
- the area of the province north of the North Saskatchewan River but south of the two mandated northern constituencies;
- the area of the province north of the line mandated in the Act which is to contain two northern seats.

The average number of voters in each of these areas may vary very slightly but the Commission felt that such deviation as existed was of such a minor nature as to not impede its directive to remain as close to the quotient as possible.

Minor adjustments were made to the two northern seats so as to render them as near as equal in voter numbers as possible as directed by Section 11 subsection (3).

Prior to presenting its final report to the Speaker of the Legislature pursuant to Section 12 of the Act, the Commission was directed by Section 17 of the Act to hold such public meetings as it considered necessary to obtain public input into the proposed contituency names and boundaries. Accordingly, the Commission held public hearings at the following places and times:

Saskatoon	Monday, June 3, 1991 10:00 a.m. C.S.T. City Council Chambers,
Swift Current	Tuesday, June 4, 1991 10:00 a.m. C.S.T. Court of Queen's Bench,
Regina	Wednesday, June 5, 1991 10:00 a.m. C.S.T. City Council Chamber,
North Battleford	Thursday, June 6, 1991 10:00 a.m. C.S.T. City Council Chambers

The Commission published a notice of the dates, times and places of public hearings in all daily and weekly newspapers in the province, together with its initial proposal for constituency names and boundaries. As a result of this publicity the Commission received notice of 42 presentations, 36 of which were spoken to at the public hearings, and 6 of which were presented in written form only.

The Commission determined that it would hear all briefs presented and while a few, which encompassed a wide range of proposals such as reducing the number of constituencies, guaranteeing a certain number of seats for Metis people, guaranteeing seats for women, or calling for an emphasis on effective representation rather than equal voting power, were outside of the Commission's mandate, most dealt with suggestions as to the names and boundaries of the proposed constituencies.

While the Commission was sympathetic to many cogent and well-reasoned briefs suggesting changes to constituency boundaries, it was nevertheless cognizant of its duty under the Act to "ensure that the voter population of each proposed constituency be, as nearly as possible, equal to the constituency population quotient", or, in the case of the two northern constituencies, that they be "as nearly as possible, equal". As a result the Commission, often reluctantly, concluded that the requested relief while reasonable, was not possible. Where numbers allowed, and the suggestion made eminent sense, the Commission made the appropriate adjustment. The following changes to constituency boundaries have therefore been incorporated into the Commission's proposals to the Legislative Assembly:

-the area bounded by Dewdney Avenue, McCarthy Boulevard, and Wascana Creek, was moved from the constituency of Regina Cathedral into the constituency of Regina Rosemont at the request of a petition signed by voters in the area affected;

-the area surrounding Crooked River which the Commission had moved to the constituency of Carrot River was returned to the constituency of Kelsey-Tisdale as a result of a petition signed by voters in the area affected;

-the boundary between the constituency of Weyburn and the constituency of Big Muddy was adjusted so that the Rural Municipality of Lomond No. 37 is contained fully within the proposed constituency of Big Muddy at the request of a resolution passed by the council of that Rural Municipality.

Several briefs presented to the Commission were concerned solely with suggestions for a change in constituency name, while other such suggestions were contained in briefs concerning boundary adjustments. Again the Commission listened sympathetically to all such suggestions accepting those which it felt were justified. The following changes to constituency names have therefore been incorporated into the Commission's proposals to the Legislative Assembly:

Battleford-Eagle Creek	to	Battleford-Biggar
Carrot River	to	Carrot River Valley
Frenchman River	to	Shaunavon-Morse
Good Spirit Lake	to	Canora
Regina Parliament	to	Regina Hillsdale
Regina Wascana	to	Regina Victoria
Saskatoon River Heights	to	Saskatoon Silverwood Heights
Tramping Lake	to	Cut Knife-Tramping Lake

Attached to this report are appendices listing the names of those who presented briefs to the Commission; the names, number of electors and percentage deviation from the quotient of the proposed constituencies; legal descriptions of the proposed constituencies; and maps of the proposed constituencies.

While the Commission was aware that time was of the essence, and has been governed throughout its deliberations by The Electoral Boundaries Act, 1991, it has nevertheless tried to balance to the best of its ability the often conflicting interests of population, geography and community of interest.
